Re: Letter of Reference for OreTest Drilling

To whom it may concern,

OreTest Drilling was part of the start-up program on the Cordero Project and has been working for Minera Titan S.A de C.V since September 2019. Minera Titan is a wholly owned Mexican subsidiary of Discovery Metals Corp. (DSV.TSXV) and formerly a subsidiary of Levon Resources who merged with DSV in August 2019.

OreTest Drilling and its management were recommended to DSV by the Levon Resources board of directors and as a result DSV helped finance the first 2 drills for the 2019 drill program. This arrangement has enabled us to work as partners on the project and move forward successfully on a drill program that runs 24/7.

Since the initiation of the drill program, OreTest has completed over 24,000m in 65 drill holes with no issues or safety incidents. The drilling rate has improved over time and is hovering around 2,000m per month per drill (including drill moves) which is quite good for the Cordero Project. The OreTest crew has worked with DSV to minimize the drill pad footprint and environmental impact and has reacted timely to any request for improvements from the DSV site management. OreTest has continued to make upgrades to their drills, has improved efficiency, and has implemented great safety protocols in order to operate securely during the COVID pandemic.

DSV and its subsidiary Minera Titan can easily recommend OreTest as a quality and competent drill contractor for any drill job.
